

Satellite Symposium

Saturday February 27th 2010
11:00 - 12:00 Room 0.4-0.5

Polihexanide – an antimicrobial substance with various properties – for critical colonized or local infected wounds.

Polihexanide – a new promising compound for the antimicrobial local therapy. (PHMB features, practical recommendations)

MRSA and Polihexanide – results of a comparison study.

*Thomas Wild - Department of General Surgery
Medical University, Vienna, Austria*

Thigh compression - Solutions for the practice

Thigh compression after great saphenous surgery is more effective with high pressure.

*Giovanni Mosti - Angiology Department,
M.D. Barbantini Hospital, Lucca, Italy*

Compression therapy following ambulatory phlebectomy. A prospective study.

*Kees-Peter de Roos - Dermatologist
DermaPark, Uden, The Netherlands*

Visit the L&R booth and design your own shirt.

During the European Venous Course 2010 L&R offers all their relations a special tailor made shirt.

- ❑ Visit the L&R Booth and Mix & Match your tailor made shirt.
- ❑ Visit the L&R Satellite symposium on Saturday.
- ❑ Start with Actico® silk or Suprasorb® X and make an appointment with an L&R sales representative to receive your tailor made shirt.

Tailor made for you

L&R wound and compression tailor made for your patient.